Sugar Creek Beekeepers announce special tour and a tea for the fall meeting

A special tour is being set up by the ladies of the Sugar Creek Beekeepers Club for spouses of beekeepers not interested in attending the break-out sessions during the fall meeting. The tour will travel to three Amish businesses in Parke County. Stops will be at an Amish furniture store with antiques and such, then a stop at Swareys variety store where notions of all sorts can be had and then finally a stop at the Peachy's bulk food store. Peachy's is known for their fine quality cheeses and baking goods and low prices, so you might want to bring your coolers. These business are part of the stock and trade of the Parke County Amish community and are a delightful change of pace from what we are use to. We feel you will have a great time at these establishments.

During the afternoon breakout sessions a ladies tea is scheduled. Pam Hauser and other Sugar Creek beekeepers ladies will host this event and Pam plans a fifteen minute discussion on presenting your honey with teas. This is another and novel way for you to market your honey.

Please join us, and if you could please RSVP your intentions so proper accommodations can be arranged.
